Not the Fall That Kills You TV Tropes

It's hitting the ground ("the deceleration trauma", "it's the sudden stop"). The laws of physics are frequently ignored in service to the story, with someone taking a plunge from a great height being probably the most frequent offender. Writers tend to forget that it's not the fall that kills you it's the sudden stop at the end.

Cat Spirit Animal Totem

The cat totem wisdom tells us about timing in action and courage to explore the unknown. Those who have the cat as spirit animal may be encouraged to develop balance between independence and time of togetherness. Harmonious relationships between light and dark, action and observation are also attributes of cat spirit.

Karoma NPC World of Warcraft wowhead com

Comment by Magnett Karoma looks the same as the Ancient Grimtotem Spirit Guide, which used to be tamable by Hunters with the help of some Haste effects. Blizzard changed this in a later patch, but those who already had one got to keep it. However, Karoma is a Spirit Beast while the Grimtotem Spirit Guides were wolves, so those who tamed one back in TBC will still have a unique pet to some degree.

Vulture Symbolism Vulture Meaning Vulture Totem Vulture

In this case, vulture symbolism is asking you to be patient with yourself and think things through. Thus like the cassowary and goat, you should take your time before making decisions and choose paths that support your higher consciousness and your heart. In other words, use all of your resources and combine it with your experiences of the past to approach the problem from a different angle.

Genius loci Wikipedia

In classical Roman religion, a genius loci (plural genii loci) was the protective spirit of a place. It was often depicted in religious iconography as a figure holding attributes such as a cornucopia, patera (libation bowl) or snake. Many Roman altars found throughout the Western Roman Empire were dedicated to a particular genius locus. The Roman imperial cults of the Emperor and the imperial
