Franchising Wikipedia

Franchising is based on a marketing concept which can be adopted by an organization as a strategy for business expansion. Where implemented, a franchiser licenses its know-how, procedures, intellectual property, use of its business model, brand, and rights to sell its branded products and services to a franchisee. In return the franchisee pays certain fees and agrees to comply with certain

McMinn Franchise Mediation Adviser Franchising Solutions

The popularity of the internet and e-commerce has proven to be problematic for established franchisors and franchisees. Claims made by franchisees in recent years have seen this as a new form of encroachment as established franchising systems have not originally considered online presence at the time of drafting franchising agreements.
