10 Tips for Getting Published as a Romance Writer Guilty

6. In a romance, plot isn't all. Emotion is. The conflict between heroine and hero should be internal, not external -- though it may manifest itself externally. The reader is more interested in what the characters feel than what they do. 7. The first sentence, the first paragraph, the first page sells your book.

I wrote a novel that was totally "me." I published this on KDP in April of 2011. Sales were slow during the first two months, but suddenly picked up in late June. I had given away tons of review copies to bloggers, many of whom graciously posted their reviews on Amazon and helped garner some online buzz for the book.
