The Language Instinct Wikipedia

The Language Instinct is a 1994 book by Steven Pinker, written for a general audience. Pinker argues that humans are born with an innate capacity for language. He deals sympathetically with Noam Chomsky's claim that all human language shows evidence of a universal grammar, but dissents from Chomsky's skepticism that evolutionary theory can explain the human language instinct.

Another is the correction of common misconceptions about language and the refutation of popular "factoids" with no basis in reality.

Pinker has written of language as intention to convey a message, such as "the weather is nice outside," or to negotiate a relationship such as "I would appreciate it if you passed the salt," (my examples).
