Fruit tree pollination Wikipedia

Pollination of fruit trees is required to produce seeds with surrounding fruit. It is the process of moving pollen from the anther to the stigma, either in the same flower or in another flower. Some tree species, including many fruit trees, do not produce fruit from self-pollination, so pollinizer trees are planted in orchards.. The pollination process requires a carrier for the pollen, which

Fruit tree pruning Wikipedia

Fruit tree pruning is the cutting and removing of selected parts of a fruit tree. It spans a number of horticultural techniques. Pruning often means cutting branches back, sometimes removing smaller limbs entirely. It may also mean removal of young shoots, buds, and leaves.. Established orchard practice of both organic and nonorganic types typically includes pruning.

Indoor Citrus and Fruit Trees

The fruit from the dwarf Meyer lemon tree and other indoor citrus trees is sweeter than any fruit you'd buy in the grocery store, partly due to the tree's small size. Instead of expending energy to grow taller, these trees are designed to devote more energy to fruit production.
