Corrosion Wikipedia

Corrosion is a natural process, which converts a refined metal to a more chemically-stable form, such as its oxide, hydroxide, or sulfide. It is the gradual destruction of materials (usually metals) by chemical and/or electrochemical reaction with their environment. Cathodic protection Wikipedia

Cathodic protection (CP) is a technique used to control the corrosion of a metal surface by making it the cathode of an electrochemical cell. A simple method of protection connects the metal to be protected to a more easily corroded "sacrificial metal" to act as the anode. The sacrificial metal then corrodes instead of the protected metal.

Concerns of corrosive effects with respect to lightning

Lightning protection elements are constructed from materials which are resistant to corrosion and should be protected from fast degradation. Over time, corrosion will occur in the presence of galvanically dissimilar metals in the same electrolyte (typically moisture).
