Interesting Facts About Chicken Eggs BackYard Chickens

Egg development and laying process. Hens don't usually lay eggs in the dark, so once a hen's laying cycle reaches dusk time, she will usually not lay till the following morning. Eggshell production drains calcium from the hen's body. The comb, wattles, legs, and ear lobes will fade as the calcium leaches out.

Everything You Need to Know About How a Chicken Lays Eggs

How Light Changes Egg Laying. Most hens lay more eggs in the spring and summer, and taper production during the fall and winter under natural light conditions. Hens need long days to lay eggs. We give our hens a break during the winter. We don't recommend adding a light to the coop to extend egg production and laying period.
