linux Which Scripting language is best Stack Overflow

The answer is: Whatever best fits the job! My rule of thumb; Bash - for a short script that might need a for loop to do something repetitively.. Perl - anything to do with some kind of text processing or file processing, especially if it's a one off. Just do a dirty nasty perl script and be done with it. Python - If it's something you might want to do again or something very like it.
